

A scatter plot showing 100 data points in a 2D space. The points are colored either green or blue. The green points are more numerous and are distributed across the entire plot area. The blue points are fewer and are primarily located in the upper half of the plot, with a few scattered in the lower half. The axes are represented by black lines with tick marks, but no numerical labels are present.

